

Chinese Dominance of Rare Earths Sets off Alarm Bells in Washington

In this episode of InvestorIntel's Critical Materials Corner with Jack Lifton, Jack talks about geopolitical issues with China and how regionalism is going to affect not just the interest and demand for rare earths, but for all critical materials.

In this InvestorIntel video, which may also be viewed on YouTube (click here to subscribe to the InvestorIntel Channel), Jack went on to say that the Chinese dominance of the rare earths space has set off alarm bells not just in the US but also in EU and Canada. "I see the security of the supply of critical materials becoming a regional issue in this world," he added. Jack highlighted that Canada is going ahead faster than the US in the critical materials space by developing several rare earths deposits for production and building the first full-scale rare earths separation plant in Saskatchewan.

Felix Lee on the critical role of #PDAC2021 in promoting miners interest around the world

In a recent InvestorIntel interview, Peter Clausi spoke with Felix Lee, President of PDAC about the convention that just kicked off earlier this week and the role of PDAC in promoting miners interest around the world.

In this InvestorIntel interview, which may also be viewed on YouTube (click here to subscribe to the InvestorIntel Channel), Mr. Lee starts with: "The show is off to a great start."

Mr. Lee pointed out that most people think of PDAC as a convention but the organization exists as an advocacy body. He said that the organization works very hard to support and promote a vibrant, competitive, and responsible minerals exploration industry. They also work with the Canadian federal government to enact policies that benefit the industry. "We are poised to play a very critical role in the transition of Canada's economy to a low carbon future," Mr. Lee added.

Ur-Energy's Jeff Klenda on Biden's interest in nuclear energy, US utilities 'just-in-time deliveries' for uranium and being the lowest cost producer of uranium in the U.S.

In a recent InvestorIntel interview, Peter Clausi spoke with Jeff Klenda, Chairman, President, and CEO of Ur-Energy Inc. (NYSE American: URG | TSX: URE) about the positive impact of Biden's administration on the ongoing prioritization of nuclear energy. Discussing the tenuous issues around America's dependence on imports for their supply of uranium, Jeff explains how Ur-Energy is capable of ramping up production faster than anybody else in the United States.

In this InvestorIntel interview, which may also be viewed on YouTube (click here to subscribe to the InvestorIntel Channel), Jeff went on to say that the US imports more than 95% of its uranium requirement with 20% coming from Russia. He highlighted that the US utilities are heavily reliant on just-in-time deliveries for uranium. "If we were to see any type of disruption in the flow of material that is coming into the United States from foreign sources. Our US utilities would be in crisis literally overnight." Highlighting that: "We are the lowest cost producer of uranium outside of Kazakhstan. Nobody in the US can produce at a lower cost than we can.”
