

Byron W King says it is time for investors to get back to “real things” like copper and gold

In this InvestorIntel interview with host Tracy Weslosky, Critical Materials Corner co-host & InvestorIntel columnist Byron W King talks about the investor market moving away from crypto and other “vaporware”, and getting back to basics at PDAC 2022.

He also discusses a resurgence of gold in an increasingly uncertain world and the enduring appeal of gold projects in “classic old mining districts.” Byron also talks about some of the companies he visited with on the floor of PDAC 2022, including Kodiak Copper Corp. and Barrick Gold Corporation.
