How predatory short selling harms and exploits Canada's junior markets

written by InvestorNews | May 24, 2022

In this InvestorIntel interview, host Tracy Weslosky is joined by Terry Lynch, Founder of Save Canadian Mining and CEO of Power Nickel Inc. (TSXV: PNPN | OTCQB: CMETF), and Peter Clausi, President, CEO and Director of CBLT Inc. (TSXV: CBLT) to discuss predatory short selling and how it is hurting investors and the mining industry.

In the interview, which can also be viewed in full on the InvestorIntel YouTube channel (click here), Terry and Peter talk about how the lack of fair and transparent capital markets allows predatory short sellers to go unpunished and play havoc in the markets with the interests of investors and companies alike. Terry goes on to discuss the need for reinstatement of the "tick test" to curb predatory short selling. Touching upon the lack of response from the Canadian regulators, Peter advocates the need for stronger investigative powers by the Canadian Securities Administrators to correct a flawed system that keeps stock values artificially down.

Don't miss other InvestorIntel interviews. Subscribe to the InvestorIntel YouTube channel by clicking here.

About Save Canadian Mining

Save Canadian Mining is a not-for-profit, issue-based advocacy group representing the interests of Canada's junior mining industry and the investment community. Founded in September 2019 by Terry Lynch, Save Canadian Mining is committed to working with governments and agencies to amend regulations in capital markets to help generate investment in Canada's junior mining industry.

To know more about Save Canadian Mining, click here

Disclaimer: This interview, which was produced by InvestorIntel Corp., (IIC), does not contain, nor does it purport to contain, a summary of all the material information concerning the "Company" being interviewed. IIC offers no representations or warranties that any of the information contained in this interview is accurate or complete.

This presentation may contain "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of applicable Canadian securities legislation. Forward-looking statements are based on the opinions and assumptions of the management of the Company as of the date made. They are inherently susceptible to uncertainty and other factors that could cause actual events/results to differ materially from these forward-looking statements. Additional risks and uncertainties, including those that the Company does not know about now or that it currently deems immaterial, may also adversely affect the Company's business or any investment therein.

Any projections given are principally intended for use as objectives and are not intended, and should not be taken, as assurances that the projected results will be obtained by the Company. The assumptions used may not prove to be accurate and a potential decline in the Company's financial condition or results of operations may negatively impact the value of its securities. Prospective investors are urged to review the Company's profile on Sedar.com and to carry out independent investigations in order to determine their interest in investing in the Company.

If you have any questions surrounding the content of this interview, please contact us at +1 416 792 8228 and/or email us direct at info@investorintel.com.