Justin Reid on how Troilus Gold's Southwest Zone "continues to grow and exceed our expectations"

written by InvestorNews | April 13, 2021

In a recent InvestorIntel interview, Peter Clausi spoke with Justin Reid, CEO and Director of Troilus Gold Corp. (TSX: TLG | OTCQB: CHXMF) about Troilus Gold's latest news release on the expansion of Southwest Zone strike length by 40% and extending gold mineralization 450 metres below PEA pit.

In this InvestorIntel interview, which may also be viewed on YouTube (click here to subscribe to the InvestorIntel Channel), Justin went on to say that the expansion is continuation of the program that the company has been working on over the last four months. The company has expanded the resource by 1.5km and has also added width. He also provided an update on Troilus' definitive agreement to acquire UrbanGold Minerals. The acquisition aligns with Troilus' focus on developing a near-term production asset. "We are going to unlock a lot of value quickly," Justin added.

To watch the full interview, click here.

About Troilus Gold Corp.

Troilus is a Toronto-based, Quebec focused, advanced stage exploration and early-development company focused on the mineral expansion and potential mine re-start of the former gold and copper Troilus mine. The 107,326 hectare Troilus property is located northeast of Chibougamau, within the Frotêt-Evans Greenstone Belt in Quebec, Canada. From 1996 to 2010, Inmet Mining Corporation operated the Troilus project as an open pit mine, producing more than 2,000,000 ounces of gold and nearly 70,000 tonnes of copper.

To learn more about Troilus Gold Corp., click here

Company’s profile on www.sedar.com and to carry out independent investigations in order to determine their interest in investing in the Company.

If you have any questions surrounding the content of this interview, please email info@investorintel.com.