“We also have a very large block of claims in northwestern Ontario,” he tells Byron, “that’s surrounding Newmont’s Musselwhite mine.” Talking about future plans, Stephen says that Romios is “looking at how we can either find a strong partner to move some of these assets forward or else the possibility is very real that we might spin them out.” In addition, he says that Romios’s Nevada properties are “going to become our primary focus” including two core assets – the former high-grade gold producing Scossa mine and the recently acquired Kinkaid project, which reported quartz vein assay samples of up to 17.9 g/t Au in June.
