

Global Cannabis Applications' CEO on the launch of Citizen Green at MJBizCon 2018

"We are basically building the smartest budtender in the world" starts Global Cannabis Applications Corp.'s ("GCAC") (CSE: APP | OTCQB: FUAPF) CEO and Director Brad Moore in an interview from the MJBizCon 2018 in Vegas today. An event sponsor, GCAC is promoting the official launch of their Citizen Green Community, the world's first end to end, from seed to sale, patient to regulator – medical cannabis data solution.

Explaining how their new hybrid technology is set to change the way the industry collects data, he stressed how through the integration of artificial intelligence, blockchain and cryptocurrency, GCAC's Citizen Green platform brings a first mover advantage to medical cannabis data solutions. Brad and GCAC are currently in Vegas from November 14 – 16th as a sponsor where they are focused on sales meetings targeting the 3000 dispensaries market in North America. To view the complete interview, click here

Disclaimer: Global Cannabis Applications Corp. is an advertorial member of InvestorIntel.