

MedX to Present at Life Sciences Investor Forum on September 16th

September 15, 2021 (Source) – MedX Health Corp. (TSXV: MDX) (“MedX” or the “Company”), a global leader in tele dermatology, is pleased to announce its participation in the Life Sciences Investor Forum, taking place virtually on Thursday, September 16 at 1:00 PM EST.

Mike Druhan, President Dermatological Services, will present MedX’s vision for scaling access to its unique dermatological image capture technology and fully integrated telemedicine platform, DermSecure®. The screening platform features high-resolution image capture technology that enables the accurate evaluation of moles, lesions and other skin conditions, providing a complete, virtual dermatological assessment by a certified dermatologist within just 72 hours. Investors are invited to participate in an open Q&A session following the presentation.

An archived webcast will be made available for attendees who are not able to join the event live.
