President & CEO's Comments on Company Performance

"Third quarter results were the best in our Company's history," stated Chris Dobbin, President & CEO. "From a financial perspective, our focus remains on cash flow growth in existing operations and the deployment of free cash flow to high return potential opportunities. Our two most recent acquisitions in Oklahoma and Massachusetts, which were not reflected in Q3 results, are examples of such opportunities.

Thinking big by acting small

It is a fair statement to say that Nova Leap acquires small home care businesses. Investors and others interested in our Company can examine past press releases to see that the home care operations we acquired between September 2017 and November 2019 generated revenues from approximately $1 million to $3.2 million. Combined, these small businesses are forming the beginning of what we believe will be a large international organization. Nova Leap will continue to target small home care businesses for acquisition. It has been our model of success.

We pay attention to unit economics. So much so that operating segment EBITDA increased to 12.9% in Q3, the highest in the Company's history. We do this through a decentralized structure because we believe that centralized bureaucratic organizations lead to a lot of waste. Head Office costs as a percentage of revenue were 53% in 2017, 11% in 2018, 7.1% in Q1, 6.7% in Q2 and 5.6% in Q3. That trend demonstrates our ability to scale the Company with existing personnel and infrastructure. The two acquisitions in Oklahoma and Massachusetts, that will be reflected in Q4, did not require additional Head Office resources."

This news release should be read in conjunction with the unaudited condensed interim consolidated financial statements for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2019, notes to the financial statements, and management's discussion and analysis, which have been filed on SEDAR.
