

Largo provides operational update

✘ April 10, 2014 (Source: CNW) – Symbol: LGO (TSX.V)

- Construction 99.8% complete
- Commissioning complete or underway on all systems
- Largo adds senior vanadium technical manager to operations team

Largo Resources Ltd. (“Largo” or the “Company”) is pleased to provide an operational update for its 100% owned Maracas Vanadium Project (the “Project”).

Construction of the Project is now 99.8% complete, with only the installation of auxiliary items still underway.

All systems at the Project are now either commissioned or in the final stages of commissioning.

First vanadium production is anticipated following the completion of commissioning and warm-up of the kiln.

Additionally, Largo is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. Casper Groenewald to the position of Deputy Technical Director of Operations, Brazil.

Mr. Groenewald is a Metallurgical Engineer with over 20 years’ experience in operating and managing mining facilities across a range of commodities. His background includes over 5 years’ direct experience operating vanadium processing facilities in South Africa, including Xstrata’s Vantech operation and Highveld Steel and Vanadium. Mr. Groenewald also has extensive experience in the production and processing of platinum, steel and iron and has successfully commissioned and optimized several processing facilities.

Mr. Groenewald most recently served as Vice President of Operations for DRA America Inc., a mining engineering, project management and contract operations company where he was responsible for strategic planning, operational development and business development.

Les Ford, Largo's Senior Vice President and Technical Director of Brazilian Operations, and a prominent vanadium expert, stated: "We are extremely pleased to welcome Casper to the Largo team. We are particularly excited to add further vanadium expertise to the operations team and likewise believe that his past experience in both platinum and iron ore will prove to be valuable assets as we move forward."

He continued: "Having worked with Mr. Groenewald at vanadium operations before, I believe that he is an extremely valuable addition to our operational team at the project. His added vanadium experience, as we are currently transitioning into production, will certainly enhance our capability to ramp-up effectively and achieve stable operations at the plant."
