

Hyperion Partners Introduces Groundbreaking MiSensors Partnership

January 11, 2021 (Source) – Hyperion Partners, the industry-leading master agent of mobility solutions, introduces a groundbreaking, new partnership with inventive, remote monitoring provider, Direct Communication Solutions, Inc. (OTCQX: DCSX) (CSE: DCSI) (“DCS”) and MiSensors. Hyperion is known for its exclusive access to innovative technologies and solutions through its growing network of channel partners. The new partnership with MiSensors undoubtedly continues Hyperion’s trailblazing efforts.

MiSensors is a cloud-based sensor management platform with web and mobile front-end user applications. Its multi-purposed capabilities offer businesses looking to deploy sensors solutions at a fraction of normal costs. By partnering with MiSensors, Hyperion Partners adds the MiTag Multi-Sensor to its diverse solution portfolio.

The MiTag Multi-Sensor is a battery-powered, long-range Bluetooth 5.0 – IP67 8-in-1 sensor built specifically for IoT Applications. MiTag’s diverse tracking and reporting capabilities set it apart from the competition. A single sensor can track and report temperature, humidity, pressure, impact, light, proximity, open/closed and a multi-function alert button.

Hyperion’s Vice President of Portfolio Leo Zeltser said, “There is no doubt that our partnership with MiSensors adds immense value to our network. The ability to offer our customers products that save them money while putting forth a complete solution is exactly what Hyperion stands for.”

“Partnering with industry experts like Hyperion Partners provides access to their extensive channel network,” said Mike Lawless, EVP of Corporate Development with DCS. “Hyperion is well positioned in the industry, making this a great fit for both companies.”
