- 700,000 Canadians suffering from severe allergies
- Canadian epinephrine auto-injector market exceeds $80M annually
- ALLERJECT peak sales potential expected to exceed $25M annually

August 2, 2022 (Source) – Valeo Pharma Inc. (TSX: VPH) (OTCQB: VPHIF) (FSE: VP2) (“Valeo” or the “Company”), a growing Canadian pharmaceutical company, announced today that it has entered into a License, Supply, and Commercialization agreement with Kaléo Inc. for the Canadian rights to ALLERJECT, (epinephrine injection, USP) auto-injector for the treatment of serious allergic reactions.

Under the Agreement, Valeo will be responsible for all commercial and medical activities for ALLERJECT in Canada for an initial 10 years period.

“We are pleased to be adding ALLERJECT to our expanding portfolio of innovative drug products. With the Canadian market for epinephrine auto-injectors exceeding $80 million per year, we believe that ALLERJECT’s peak sales potential exceeds $25 million annually representing an important factor in our revenue growth”, said Steve Saviuk, CEO. “We expect ALLERJECT to start contributing operating margins in Q4-22”.

“Patients with life threatening allergies across Canada deserve access to this innovative and potentially lifesaving product,” said Kaléo, President and CEO, Ronald Gunn. “Valeo Pharma’s sales force, relationships with the healthcare community, and commitment to patients make them the ideal partner for ALLERJECT.”

Commenting on this commercial agreement with Kaléo, Frederic Fasano, Valeo’s President and COO said, “We look forward to ensuring patient access to this unique epinephrine auto-injector technology for the emergency treatment of severe anaphylactic reactions which are rare but potentially life-threatening events. ALLERJECT is a high quality / high compliance product with user-friendly features, including voice instructions and a retractable needle, ensuring proper use of the device. Its addition to our product portfolio supports Valeo’s growth and reinforce our position as a leading Canadian pharmaceutical company”.

Over 700,000 people are estimated to be at risk for anaphylaxis due to food or insect stings alone at least once in their lifetime. A potentially life-threatening allergic reaction can happen anywhere – and can happen quickly, reinforcing the importance for patients, families and caregivers to have timely and reliable access to an epinephrine auto-injector.
