Vangold Mining Overview:

Vangold holds an extensive portfolio of precious metal properties in Mexico's Guanajuato mining district. The Company is well positioned to benefit from improving precious metal market fundamentals. Vangold is advancing towards its maiden resource confirmation and valuation at its El Pinguico property by implementing multi-phase drilling campaigns targeting the lower El Pinguico vein and the deeper Veta Madre intersection over the next few months. In 2017, Vangold entered into a 310 hectare surface land acquisition, which has accelerated the Company's environmental application process (MIA), the land use permit and the mining explosive permit. Our strategy in 2018 will be to finance geological drilling campaigns and mine development expenditures through equity opportunities for institutions and investors alike. The larger CAPEX and OPEX commitments are anticipated to be funded through structured debt instruments, production-based stream or an off-take partnership.
