

Dan Blondal on hitting Nano One's cathode material technology milestones out of the park

Dan Blondal, CEO, Director and Founder of Nano One Materials Corp. (TSXV: NNO) ("Nano One") in an interview with InvestorIntel Senior Editor Jeff Wareham discuss the competitive advantages of cathode material technologies. Specifically, Dan states when asked how they differ from the competition comments: "I think where we differ from the rest of the industry is that we are focusing on manufacturing techniques that will improve the raw material inputs and the outputs which are basically the cathode materials." Dan then goes on to state that Nano One's targets include lithium-ion batteries in electric vehicles, storage renewables, drones and other consumer electronics...to access the complete interview, click here
