

InvestorIntel Announces the InvestorChannel Silver Watchlist in Collaboration with David Morgan

Renowned silver guru David Morgan to provide investors with dynamic list of silver market leaders

Toronto, September 11, 2020 – InvestorIntel.com, a leading online source of investor information, is pleased to announce its new InvestorChannel Silver Watchlist in collaboration with silver specialist David Morgan of The Morgan Report.

“Investor interest in silver has never been higher,” said Tracy Weslosky, founder of InvestorIntel.com and co-founder of InvestorChannel.com. “At the moment, silver has a far higher potential upside and growth potential than gold. What has been missing is a dynamically updated guide to the major silver companies accessible to the average or even sophisticated investor. I am delighted to bring our viewers the expertise and depth of understanding that David Morgan brings to investors.”

David Morgan’s TheMorganReport.com has long been the go-to resource for silver investors. With Morgan’s insight into the changing silver markets, The InvestorChannel Silver Watchlist will be dynamic and follow market changes. It will include the majors representing the top tier but will also include others that may not have the majority of their revenue from silver but produce a significant amount of silver. Also represented will be silver companies chosen based on other investment factors such as popularity or volume of shares traded.

“Silver is the best performing commodity to date and is still undervalued,” said David Morgan, “which means an opportunity to participate remains. Investors can use the list to begin their investigations. Large moves on large volumes in any sector usually warrant further study.”

The InvestorChannel Silver Watchlist is presented in video format and is available online without a subscription through YouTube featuring:

- Daily Spot Price for Silver
- The Top 5 Silver Performers of the Day
- The Top 22 Silver Companies ranked by daily stock performance

“Within weeks of being launched The InvestorChannel Silver Watchlist has already become the top search result for investors looking for a daily silver investment resource,” said Tracy Weslosky. “There clearly is a need among investors for clear and current information about the movers and major players in the silver market.”

The InvestorChannel Silver Watchlist may be accessed via the InvestorChannel YouTube account at InvestorChannel.com or on InvestorIntel.com, where the data driven watchlists feeds are featured at market close daily.
